Course Registration and Add Code Policies

General Course Policies:

- A student who does not attend the first three consecutive days of a class may be dropped.
- A student may be dropped or placed in a different class level at the instructor’s discretion if the student is not appropriate for the class.
- ACCESS Program students’ forms cannot be signed until the third day of the quarter. This is dependent upon the availability of space and at the discretion of the instructor.
- Non-matriculated students must obtain the signature of the instructor and then may bring the form to the department office for the administrative signature.

Add Code Policies:

- If you receive an add code, use it immediately; they are valid only for the quarter they are issued, and if not used within the time frame given to you by the instructor, they will be invalidated.

For all languages and levels (except those listed below), consult specific course information in the Time Schedule. Every section has specific instructions regarding entry codes, located in the Time Schedule. The main office does not maintain or distribute add codes.

Language-Specific Information

Classical and Modern Chinese: See additional information on Chinese Add Codes & Wait Lists.

Hindi: If you are interested in taking first-year Hindi at the UW, you must enroll in the Autumn quarter. If you miss registering for Autumn quarter you will have to wait till the start of the series in the following Academic Year. Obtain an add code by emailing the instructor.

For all other languages and levels, consult specific course information in the Time Schedule and follow the instructions.

Department of Asian Languages & Literature
University of Washington
225 Gowen Hall
Box 353521
Seattle, WA 98195-3521

Phone: (206) 543-4996
asianll@uw.edu